Miss Young,

University Library.

Dear Miss Young:

I am sorry that I shall be unable to be present at the lecture which is to be given next Monday evening. I have an invitation to be present at the first dinner of the Alumni Association of the Newman Club, and in view of its place in the University it is incumbent upon me to be present. I shall, however, be glad to take some tickets for your lecture.

I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

Miss Young,

University Library.

Dear Miss Young:

I have to thank you for sending me additional tickets. I hope that the lecture enabled you to realise your expectations, and that as a result of your hard work you will be able to contribute something to the common cause. I am sure that not many have made a greater effort than you and Miss Cayley in arranging for such a meeting. I regret that I was unable to be present, and Mrs. Falcover also was too tired after a full day of engagements to go over in the evening.

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.
